Assembly May Purge Georgia Pension Rolls

JOINT COMMITTEE VOTES TO APPROVE FARM DEPARTMENT

J. J. Brown Wins Fight to Vindicate Agricultural Department's Record During His Regime.

NAME SUBCOMMITTEE TO CLEAR UP PENSIONS

May Propose Million-Dollar Bond Issue for Veterans—Highway Issue Hangs Fire in Assembly.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
Plans to purge the pension rolls of Georgia; to devise ways and means for raising more than $1,000,000 due pensioners of the "old class" and "new class" and to consider the submission of a short-time bond issue to pay up all pensions until 1925 will be worked out by a subcommittee of the house committee on appropriations appointed Tuesday at a meeting of the committee held at the capitol.

Those named on the subcommittee were Representatives Carswell, chairman; Ennis, Quincy, Steele and Thompson. The committee will confer with the governor and pension commissioner in preparing the report.

This action by the appropriations committee and a strong defense of his administration of affairs in the state department of agriculture presented by Commissioner J. J. Brown before the two committees of agriculture of the house in joint session Tuesday afternoon, were important developments of the day in the legislature. After Mr. Brown had spoken before the agriculture committees for more than an hour a resolution endorsing his department and the manner in which it has been conducted was adopted by unanimous vote.

Stalemate in Road Fight.
In the house Tuesday the day was given over to the fight on the state highway department waged by Representative McMichael which came to an end shortly after noon when a resolution was adopted providing that both reports of the majority and minority investigating committees of the highway department be received as information. This resolution was passed as a substitute for McMichael's resolution No. 117. Adoption of the substitute leaves the situation in much the same shape as it was before the McMichael fight began.

The outstanding feature of the senate session was the continuance of the filibuster over the tax equalization law. Opponents of the repeal of this law maintained their filibuster throughout the day. It was reported Tuesday night that the repealers have sufficient strength to pass their law if it comes to a vote Wednesday, although it was rumored that several of the senators in favor of repeal will be absent when the vote is taken, which places the matter in doubt.

Heat Bus Control Bill.
The committee on railroads held a session in the railroad committee Tuesday afternoon to consider the passage of the bill providing that motor buses and trucks used in transportation of freight and passengers be placed under the jurisdiction of the state railroad commission for regulation. Several motor bus men, trunk line railroad men and short line railroad men appeared before the committee. The principal speech made in support of the measure was delivered by Robert C. Alston. The committee agreed that a subcommittee should be appointed to consider the question and report at a meeting to be held later.

The plan to purge the pension rolls was suggested to the committee in ways and means by Representative Carswell. He declared that there are many persons now drawing pensions in Georgia who have large incomes. He also pointed out that there are widows of veterans who have married recently and in some cases married them simply to get their pensions. He recommended that the rolls be purged of all pensioners of this type and said if this is done more money will be provided for the real veterans who need the pensions.

Representative Ennis suggested a short time bond issue to take care of all money due the various classes of pensioners until 1925. The committee will investigate the situation and prepare a report to provide the necessary relief.

Among those who appeared and argued in behalf of appropriations for the veterans were Former Governor Nat E. Harris, T. E. Massengale and Miss Annie Bryan. Governor Harris and Mr. Massengale represented con-

Present Amendment To Atlanta Charter To House Committee

This morning at 9 o'clock before the municipal committee of the house, the Atlanta charter amendment bill, as authorized at the recent special charter election, will be given a public hearing. The committee will meet in the offices of the state prison commission at the capitol.

Among other things the amendments provide for abolishment of the police, water, health and park boards, and increases the board of education to one member from each ward. Representative Ernest Bentley will be present to fight the measure. The other two Fulton representatives are for it.

City council will be represented by a special committee composed of Councilman J. R. Nutting, Councilman Claude Ashley and Alderman W. C. Davis, instructed to urge passage of the amendments.

NATIONAL FOREST IN NORTH GEORGIA OPEN TO PUBLIC

Secretary Wallace, in Semi-Official Dedication Statement, Extends Welcome to Georgia People.

STATEMENT IS MADE TO THE CONSTITUTION

Prospects for Extensive Road Improvement Work in Near Future Are Excellent, He Says.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.
Washington, July 11.—(By Constitution Leased Wire).—In a semi-official dedication of the forest reserves of north Georgia as a national playground, Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace, in a statement to The Constitution today, declared that the general public and the people of Georgia are welcome in the Cherokee and Nantahala national forests, and that those who visit these areas will find local men of the forest service ready to do everything possible to make their stay a pleasant one.

"Recreational enjoyment of the national forests is almost unrestricted," Secretary Wallace said.

This he declared to be one of the primary fields in use, adding that "just as rapidly as our facilities will allow, this recreational resource will be developed and will be made ready for public enjoyment."

Praises Recent Tour.
Secretary Wallace declared that the educational work which The Constitution has done through conducting a special expedition into the north Georgia reservations recently will "assuredly be a contributing factor of great importance." Prospects for extensive road improvement work on the part of the federal and state governments in the near future appear to be excellent, he said.

During 1921, Mr. Wallace said, more than 5,500,000 visitors entered the national forests of the country in search of sport and enjoyment. Some 2,000,000 of the number were campers, fishermen and hunters, attracted to the forests by the splendid opportunities they present for a care-free life in the great outdoors. And for the coming years, the number is expected to be greatly increased through the opening of the Georgia territory to the people of the south, who, unlike the residents of the middle west and east, have heretofore been too far removed from the areas.

"Within a reasonably few years," Secretary Wallace said, "Georgia's national forests should and doubtless will constitute a great summer playground for her people."

Statement in Full.
"In the western states where the bulk of our 150,000,000 acres of national forests are located, they have come to be 'the people's playground.' In 1921, more than 5,500,000 visitors entered these mountain wonderlands in search of sport and enjoyment. Some 2,500,000 of this number were campers, fishermen and hunters, attracted to the forests by the splendid opportunities they present for a care-free life in the great outdoors. Some of our eastern forests have become equally attractive to visitors. In the

Fear of Death, Not of Kidnaping, Caused Shooting, Woman Declares

Says She Had Reached Limit of Suffering

Mrs. Larry Avera and little daughter, Louise Stephens, whose lives she says were endangered when she shot her former husband, Millard Stephens.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
There is a limit to human suffering beyond which the mind cannot function and this limit was reached in the case of Mrs. Larry Avera who shot her former husband, Millard Stephens, last Sunday afternoon when Stephens broke in the door of the Avera home and declared he had come there to "clean up the damn place," Mrs. Avera said Tuesday. It was fear for her own and her child's lives rather than fear of kidnaping the child that caused her to shoot, she said.

"When my former husband began breaking down the front door of our home last Sunday I knew he had come to kill me and I shot him to save my life and the life of my child. If I had not shot him I am sure he would have killed me."

Avera Stands by Wife.
Mrs. Avera is back in her home at 278 Jones avenue after being released under $2,000 bond while her former husband lies at the point of death in Grady hospital with six bullet wounds in his body. She talked quietly and composedly of the shooting Tuesday and posed for several newspaper photographers. Her husband, Larry Avera, well-known Atlanta boxer, was with her and reiterated his statement that he would stand by his wife to the limit.

"When Millard came out here Sunday afternoon I asked him quietly to go on away but he would not go," she said. "Although my child, Louise, was here in the house, I don't believe he came to get her at that time. He had been out here in this neighborhood the week before but had not come to the house. He went to a Negro's house and looked over the situation. He had not annoyed me for some time until the time he came out Sunday."

Mrs. Avera does not look in any way like she could grab a pistol and face a desperate man as she did. She is quite attractive with a sweet expression in her face and impresses a visitor with her gentleness.

Seven Years of Trouble.
"I had often had much trouble during the seven years I was married to Millard. He was in trouble many times and had been arrested many times. I always stuck to him and helped him up until it became impossible to continue to stand by him. He made it impossible. And when he came out Sunday and said he was going to clean up the house I knew he meant it. I knew that he would kill me when he began breaking down the door and I have little doubt that he would have killed anybody else who stood in his way," she said.

Mrs. Avera before her marriage to Stephens was Miss Helen Teiger, of LaGrange. Their little girl is six years old and is a bright and attractive little child. Mrs. Avera does not believe Stephens intended to kidnap the child when he paid his last visit to her home.

"My Life or His."
"I don't see why they are making such a fuss over this thing," Mrs. Avera said. "I simply shot a desperate man when it meant my life or his and I think any other person in the world would have done the same thing under the same conditions."

HARDING TO PASS ON PLAN TO DELAY BILLS THIS WEEK

Party Leaders Will Ask President's Consent to Postponement of Bonus and Shipping Bills.

THURSDAY PROBABLE DATE OF CONFERENCE

Rumored Chief Executive Does Not Relish Idea of Shouldering Responsibility for Delays.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, July 11.—(By Constitution Leased Wire).—The conference between republican leaders of the senate and President Harding over plans to postpone until the next session of congress consideration of the bonus and ship subsidy bill will take place the latter part of this week, perhaps Thursday, it was announced today.

Senators Lodge, Watson, Indiana and Curtis have been appointed as a committee of three to present to the president the agreement made at the recent dinner given by the Massachusetts senator which calls for delay in consideration of the two measures. The committee wanted to see President Harding immediately upon his return from Marion, but word from the white house indicated that the president would be unable to take up the matter at this time due to pressure over the strike situation.

Accordingly, the senate committee will remain in a state of uncertainty and anxiety until that time.

Idea Not Pleasing.
Contrary to first indications, it is probable that the president, with all his other worries, will not be entirely pleased with the determination of senate leaders to have him assume the responsibility for postponing action on the bonus and ship subsidy. Republican senators who gathered at the home of Senator Lodge were agreed that the two measures should not be brought up at this session, but were unwilling to advance that program by themselves. Instead, they wanted the president to bear the brunt of criticism that would immediately ensue from the soldier element of the country.

Further postponement of the bonus, in the eyes of political observers, would undoubtedly greatly remove its chances of passage; would, in the

Girl Graduates Hike to Atlanta From New York

Make Long Trip in 8 Days to Attend New Thought Congress Next Week.

Two charming misses, each about as big as a minute, last night completed a hiking tour from New York city to Atlanta in eight days. The thousand miles was negotiated with the expenditure of $6.45 apiece, a great deal of "new thought" and the ingenuity attained in acquiring Ph.D. and A.B. degrees at Cornell and Columbia universities.

The young women are Miss Irene A. Mitchell, Ph.D. of Columbia University and Charleston, S.C., five feet one inch tall, brunette, and Miss Madeline Gross-Handler, A.B. of Cornell and New York city, four feet eleven inches tall, blond. They are both "sweet girl graduates" of last month and the purpose of their unusual hike from New York city is to attend the International New Thought Alliance congress which opens here Sunday.

The hikers didn't walk all the way. Miss Gross-Handler explained, when the reporter's face registered incredulity at the brevity of the time in which the distance was negotiated. The last lap of the hike was in the automobile of Dr. and Mrs. Montague Tuttle who motored here from Anderson, S. C., yesterday, and several times they got long lifts in automobiles. They made the trip from Philadelphia to Washington, D. C., overnight last Wednesday in a big automobile moving van, but with the exception of a few other "lifts" the trip was made on foot.

Text of White House Strike Proclamation.

Washington, July 11.—The text of President Harding's proclamation on the railroad strike follows:

A PROCLAMATION.
Whereas, the United States railroad labor board is an agency of the government, created by law, and charged with the duty of adjusting disputes between railroad operators and employees engaged in interstate commerce; and

"Whereas, the United States railroad labor board has recently handed down decisions, one affecting the wage of the shop craft employees, the other declaring the contract system of shop craft work with outside agencies to be contrary to the intent of the transportation act and, therefore, that such practice must be discontinued; and

"Whereas, the shop craft employees have elected to discontinue their work, rather than abide by the decision rendered, and certain operators have ignored the decision ordering the abandonment of the contract shop practice; and

"Whereas, the maintained operation of the railways in interstate commerce and the transportation of United States mails have necessitated the employment of men who choose to accept employment under the terms of the decision, and who have the same indisputable right to work that others have to decline to work; and

"Whereas, the peaceful settlement of controversies in accordance with law and due respect for the established agencies of such settlement are essential to the security and well-being of our people; and

"Now, therefore, I, Warren G. Harding, president of the United States, do hereby make proclamation, directing all persons to refrain from all interference with the lawful efforts to maintain interstate transportation and the carrying of the United States mails."

ALL INTERFERENCE WITH INTERSTATE TRAINS MUST END

Proclamation Is Issued by President Harding and Secretary Hughes Late Tuesday Night.

CALLS ALL CITIZENS TO AID UPHOLD LAWS

Leaders of "Big Four" Brotherhoods Will Discuss Strike Issues With Rail Executives Today.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, July 11.—President Harding, in a proclamation issued at the white house late tonight directed "all persons to refrain from all interference with lawful efforts to maintain interstate transportation and the carrying of the United States mail."

In the proclamation which was issued after a day in which continued reports had reached the postoffice department of interference by railroad strikers with mail trains, the president invited the co-operation of all public authorities, state and municipal, and the "aid of all good citizens" to uphold the laws and to "facilitate" those operations in safety which are essential to life and liberty, and the security of property and our common public welfare.

The peaceful settlement of controversies between the shop craft employees and carriers, it was stated, "in accordance with law and due respect for the established agencies for such settlement are essential to the security and well-being of our people."

The president took the position that men willing to maintain the operation of railroad trains in order to transport mail have the "same indisputable right to work that others have to decline to work."

President Harding was occupied throughout the evening with the preparation of the proclamation, delaying his dinner one hour in order to go over the first transcript. He returned to the executive offices after dinner and remained there until the proclamation was made public about 10:40 p. m.

"BIG FOUR" TO CONFERENCE

Chicago, July 11.—With state troops and United States deputy marshals on guard in half a dozen states to avert violence and prevent interference with the movement of the mails or interstate commerce, leaders of the "big four" railroad brotherhoods and railway executives tonight were hurrying to Chicago to confer on issues growing out of the shopmen's strike.

At Bloomington, Ill., where state troops have been guarding the Chicago and Alton railroad shops, engineers, firemen, trainmen, and conductors, members of the four big brotherhoods, voted today not to enter the shops or yards as long as troops are stationed there. The matter of working with guards and state troops on duty was expected to be one of the matters taken up at tomorrow's meeting.

Work of Strikers.
Another issue to be discussed will be the alleged insistence of the carriers that members of the big four do work regularly assigned to the crafts now on strike. The railroad labor board last week rendered an opinion that the members of one craft of workmen were not required to do the work of another unless they were members were on strike unless they did so voluntarily. Members of the "big four" unions have also protested that rolling stock has not been kept in connection with the strike of the shopmen, engineers claiming that the locomotives with defective brakes, headlights and air equipment had been turned over to them.

Roads Seek Settlement.
The shopmen leaders today were in receipt of advice that 18 railroads had made conciliatory expressions looking toward a settlement of the strike and that some were conferring with the system federation committees.

No settlement will be made, however, except on a national basis, the union heads insisted, insisting that the railroads deal with the six international shop unions as a whole.

Negotiations have progressed so far on the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, that R. A. Henning, chairman of the strikers committee at St. Paul, came to Chicago today to confer with President B. M. Jewell and other federation officers.

No definite conclusion was reached, it was said. Overtures to the local strike committees have been forthcoming from several roads ever since the beginning of the strike a week and a half ago it was learned today. The committees have refused to enter into any system agreement.

Whatever settlement is made, must be on a national basis," said John Scott, secretary of the shop crafts, today.

Little Violence.
Little violence was reported today although troops and guards remained vigilant. At Bloomington an attempt was being made by strikers to have state troops recalled following an exchange of shots between guards and strikers last night.

Two hundred Kansas national guards were sent to Herington, Kas., to guard the Rock Island shops and officials of the Southern railroad asked Governor Russell, of Mississippi, for troops at Hattiesburg to protect the property at the Mississippi Central shops.

All was quiet at Clinton, Ill., where state troops have been stationed since Saturday. Additional deputy marshals were sworn in here to protect the Chicago and Northwestern shop employees and two companies of state troops were sent to New Franklin, Mo., to protect workmen on the M. & T. road. Minor clashes between workers and strike sympathizers were reported from several points.

Postmaster-General Wood asked all postmasters to report to their local post offices the names of persons who service any interference with the movement of the mails. At Youngstown, Ohio, the Baltimore & Ohio railroad obtained a temporary injunction restraining interference with the company's shops and yards while a similar injunction was obtained by the property and employees at East St. Louis, Ill., and Florida, Ill.

ASSEMBLY MAY PURGE STATE PENSION ROLLS

federate veteran organizations and Miss Bryan represented the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Brown Asks Money.
In his speech before the agricultural committee, Commissioner Brown outlined the workings of the department under his charge. He pointed out the need of a larger force in the drug and narcotic branch. It is impossible for the present force to protect the people, he said. This condition is also found in the pure food branch. There are not enough pure food inspectors to do anything like inspect all the food that the law requires. The commissioner regards the pure food inspection the most important work in Georgia.

He was strong in his praise of the work done by the bureau of marketing. It is doing a work for the farmers of Georgia that is incalculable, he said. He called attention to the fact that cotton, once the only stabilized product in the state, today the farmers are able to have a fixed market on practically everything coming from their farms.

Speaking of appropriation, the commissioner said, "every time you appropriate a dollar to the department of agriculture, you place more work on that department. If I did not want to do any work, I'd ask you cut down the appropriation; for with no money we are not expected to do anything. But the farmers of Georgia are on my heart; I have a passion to serve them."

"Every Man Works."
The department of agriculture is an open book," he said. "There is not a man in the department who doesn't work and work hard."

The commissioner called attention to the inadequate provision made for the inspection of oil. The gasoline filling stations are required to keep a specific gravity test; but there is no penalty for not adhering to the law worth their attention. What is needed is for them to keep up the specific gravity test and also the combustion power of the gas. There should be a fine of from $100 to $1,000 for failure to live up to the law, Mr. Brown said. State development and operation of its own calcium arsenate plant to give the farmers of the state the poison they so badly need to fight the boll weevil was urged by the commissioner. He did not ask that this be gone into without further investigation from all angles. The farmers are getting calcium arsenate at a lower figure than any farmers in the cotton belt; but this will not be true after the expiration of the present contract. This contract was possible because of an appropriation last year. The firm now supplying the poison will not renew it, he said.

Road Fight Ends.
After many heated debates lasting for three days, and after several sensational charges had been made against the state highway department officials, Representative McMichael's fight against those on the other side, ended shortly after noon Tuesday when a resolution was adopted laying both the majority and minority reports of the highway investigating committee on the table for the information of the house.

In the last day's debate on the McMichael highway department fight, some heated statements were made among them being a remark by Representative Mann, of Glynn, that the charge made by Mr. McMichael that the majority members of the committee had obstructed information before the committee "was as false as it was groundless."

The resolution to receive the majority and minority reports and treat them as information was introduced.

THE CONSTITUTION, ATLANTA, GA., WEDNESDAY, JULY 12, 1934

By Beckham, of Dougherty, as a substitute for house resolution 117, introduced by McMichael. After several amendments had been attached the substitute was adopted by a vote of 129 to 45. This leaves the situation much the same as when the fight was first started several days ago by Representative McMichael.

Three Road Plans.
Members of the house spoke both in defense of the highway department and in criticism of the manner in which it has been conducted. During the course of the debate Representative Mann outlined the plans of the highway committee of the house. He said the committee probably will report three propositions to the house. One of these provides for a bond issue to take care of the 5,500-mile road program. Another will provide for a temporary bond issue to take care of the federal aid money, and the third to provide that the highway department shall direct its activities toward maintenance of roads and that it be allowed $1,000,000 a year for this purpose.

Representative McMichael declared he had fought his battle in all sincerity, and had no hard feelings against those on the other side. He said he deplored the fact that Representative Mann had injected personalities into the speech, but he held no resentment against him.

Tax Showdown Today.
Both sides moved Tuesday for a showdown in the senate fight over proposed repeal of the tax equalization law. Leaders predicted that the filibuster would end today by bringing the issue to a vote. Chiefs of both factions admitted that the decision would be close and each faction claimed the victory would be theirs.

The filibuster began the middle of last week, got off full tilt again Tuesday. Frequent hot exchanges between senators featured the session. Senator Nix, repeat advocate, put in a privilege resolution providing for afternoon sessions, which also provided that members be limited to ten minutes each in debate.

The opposition to the challenge was immediately answered by Senator John Jones, who offered a privilege resolution calling for a final vote without further debate on the bill Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. The resolutions by both members were referred to the rules committee.

Senator Nix offered another resolution providing for afternoon sessions, without seeking to limit the speeches. This was fought hard and was under discussion when the senate adjourned at 1 o'clock.

Hardwick Mentioned.
Governor Hardwick's name entered the fight again. Senator Akin was speaking and Nix asked him: "Isn't it true you are opposing the dictation of the governor?"

"No, sir," replied the senator. "I am just as independent here as I could be anywhere on earth." Senator Brown, of Filibuster forces, moved that the constitution of the state be read. He was voted down. He later moved that the body adjourn sine die, and was ruled out of order. "I'm a filibuster," said the senator. "I'm one of 'em, and if God helps me I'll stay here until Christmas day and filibuster to keep them from repealing this law."

Senators Nix and Jones indulged in a heated verbal clash and President Clay ruled them both out of order and demanded silence. The president then took occasion to warn the members that he expected to rule against dilatory tactics.

HARDING TO PASS ON PLAN TO DELAY

opinion of many, forecast its defeat for a certainty. Knowing how this action would reflect against the members of the senate participating in the move, they are very anxious to relieve themselves of as much responsibility as possible, yet serving the purpose desired all the while.

Much Speculation.
Since President Harding has already assumed the responsibility of delaying passage of the bonus on two occasions, due to the bill not having a revenue-raising clause, republican leaders believed that he would be willing to go deeper into the water and publicly request the program outlined. The president is also to be told that sentiment in the senate is for adjournment the latter part of August and if he will agree to this, an attempt will be made to rush through the tariff bill by that time.

Hitch Over Subsidy.
There is no doubt of Mr. Harding's having been informed of these facts in advance, the purpose of the committee's visit being merely to formally present the matter to him. With this in mind, speculation is rife over the chief executive's reticence.

The only hitch in the acceptance of the plans for postponement lies with the subsidy end of it, observers say. They point out that the ship subsidy bill is one of the administration's pet measures, while on the other hand the president has expressed himself against the present bonus several times, his actions bespeaking such more often. Then it is believed that he has no objection to the bonus going over, in fact desires it to do so; he merely is anxious over the subsidy measure.

Republicans who are for the postponement program think members of the senate and house should get into the campaign early in September and that an early session next spring would be preferable to a prolongation of the present sitting.

If the president is to veto the bonus bill, they say, it is idle for them to waste several weeks in debate, especially at this time. Meanwhile, a long debate over the ship subsidy is in view with a number of senate leaders, including Lodge, Watson, Curtis, Lenroot and others trying to avoid it by having the president call off the remaining legislative program.

Arrested Mayor, Maker of Bombs.
Wrecks Courthouse
Rome, July 11.—Arrested on a charge of manufacturing bombs, Filippo delio Castro, mayor of Lenti, Sicily, blew up the courthouse, killing all the occupants, says a dispatch to The Central News.

Numerous bombs were found in the home of the mayor, who was declared to have made them for the socialist members of the municipal council.

Buying Food Is Just Like Buying Coal

Certain kinds of coal contain a greater number of thermal units, burn freely and render greater heat per pound. The combustion is nearly complete, there is satisfaction in its use, and there is a minimum of ash or waste matter. It is not only more satisfactory but more economical in the end.

The same is true with foods. Certain foods contain a greater number of food units, which means that it takes less in volume to satisfy and nourish. They are always more palatable and satisfying and there is less waste, making for economy in a manner very similar. It takes less and does more.

TEXACO GASOLINE

THE VOLATILE GAS

(Vol-a-tility: the readiness with which gasoline gives up its power)

The difference between the power you really get and the power you can get from that car of yours is all in the gasoline you use. Texaco, the volatile gas, gives up its energy instantly; completely—when it's in the cylinder where power counts for something.

Run your car with Texaco Gasoline. Then you'll know.

Run it with Texaco Gasoline—Save it with Texaco Motor Oil

Texaco Motor Oils are heavy-body lubricants and are distinguished by their clear, golden color. Light, medium, heavy and extra-heavy—they fit all cars and all conditions. You will find them wherever you see the Texaco red star.

Consequently food of all kinds must be INVITING—it must be WHOLESOME, FRESH, CRISP—handled in a perfectly sanitary manner. Vegetables and fruits must be of such quality that they will be irresistibly tempting. That is the quality of all food—all fruits—all vegetables—offered at Rogers.

It does your appetite good to partake of edibles you know are purest and best—are cleanest and most wholesome—the kind you get at any Rogers store.

ized coal mining areas were still in suspension tonight awaiting final answers from the mine operators and union officials to whom they were directed.

At the white house it was said the settlement plan outlined was the best in the situation, offering an ideal method of dispute adjustment without force.

Several inconclusive sessions of coal mine operators who represented the industry at the conferences called by the president ten days ago, were held today, but an adjournment was finally taken until Sunday.

A. M. Ozle, chairman of the operators' group in the conference, and president of the National Coal association, visited the white house late today with a committee of operators.
After a conference with President Harding, it was said the visit was for the purpose of obtaining first-hand information on various phases of the arbitration proposal which had been brought up during the several conferences among the operators.

LEASE IS CLOSED FOR CITY MARKET

One of the most magnificent market buildings in the south, to cost in the neighborhood of one-half million dollars, will be erected at once on the corner of the city building and Market company.

Announcement that actual construction on the building will start soon was made Tuesday after the market company had closed a 50-year lease with Ben J. Massell, who controls the property, for that part of the tract which fronts 220 feet on Cain street, beginning 75 feet from Peachtree street. Aggregate rentals of $750,000 are involved.

The Capital City Building and Market company, organized by the Market Engineering and Development company, Paul F. Vose is president.
Joe L. McMillin is secretary and treasurer. W. C. Roberts is vice president. Directors are Graham P. Hurt, E. E. Pomeroy, T. J. Anderson, Willis J. Milner, Jr., T. C.
Perkins, W. Eugene Harrington, and J. R. Regnas.

The market building will accommodate 50 reliable merchants, and officials of the company stated Tuesday that practically all space has been rented for 10 years.

Vaught Delivers Speech by Radio To Atlanta Club

A wireless address by Ed S.
Vaught, of Oklahoma City, international president of Lions' clubs, was the principal feature of the weekly Lions' club luncheon Tuesday at the Piedmont hotel. The message from the head of the international organization outlined three general fields of action for Lions throughout the world.

"First, is education," President Vaught said. "Our public school is the citadel of our citizenship. Our children should receive the best instruction, under the best surroundings and be impressed early with the meaning and obligations of the citizenship which they are approaching.
This requires sanitary and adequate buildings, competent teachers at good salaries, and above all, the immediate duty is to eradicate selfish, grafting and un-American politics from the school boards."

"Second, comes public health. General health is now known to be intolerable. A city's health conditions are able to be scientifically adjusted.
The time is at hand when an un-healthful town will be looked upon with contempt. Lions can fall in with the great public health propaganda now being organized in this country."

"Third, I speak of the elimination of poverty. Poverty breeds disease and crime. We have outlawed the saloon and thereby eliminated the greatest source of poverty. Now we can attack the problem with hope and success."

At the conclusion of the address, which lasted for about 15 minutes, it developed that the address had been transmitted through the radio set and magnavox from an adjoining room where the address had been read by Press Hindlestone, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Speaker Cecil Neill, of the house of representatives, and about ten other members of the legislature were present as special guests of the club.

WILLIAM HARTSFIELD OUT FOR ALDERMAN

William B. Hartsfield, well-known young attorney, announced his candidacy Tuesday for alderman from the third ward to succeed Alderman C.
L. Chosewood. The alderman will retire at the end of his present term.

Mr. Hartsfield is 33 years of age ment club and is a former president of that organization. Mr. Hartsfield is running unopposed.

In his announcement he declares that his efforts in council would be aimed toward a betterment of the third ward and the city at large, and promises to keep aloof from politics that might affect questions before that body.

Mr. Hartsfield's statement is as follows:
"I hereby announce my candidacy for alderman from the third ward. In doing so, I believe I have the good will and active support of the majority of good citizens of the third ward with whom I have labored in the past for much needed improvements, as well as numerous other friends over the city who have offered me their support.
"I have no set platform save the solemn promise that if elected I will use my best efforts and devote my entire time in the city council to the betterment of my ward and the city at large, keeping aloof from petty or selfish politics and applying to every question that may come up, the sole test of whether it serves the best interest of my city.
"To this end I offer a clean record and a willingness to serve my fellow citizens of Atlanta, should they see fit to place this responsibility upon me."

Rose Is Insisting That Ugly Charges Come to Show-Down

An early hearing of charges preferred against J. T. Rose, collector of internal revenue, by a woman formerly employed as his secretary, seemed probable Tuesday when Commissioner W. C. Carter intimated that he might issue a warrant for his ar-

When the charges were filed last week, the commissioner declined to issue the warrant. Since the return of Collector Rose to Atlanta, after a short absence, he has demanded that the warrant be issued in order that charges may be publicly aired. He lays the charges to politics.

REFUSES EXTRADITION OF EUGENE SCHREIBER

Governor Hardwick refused Tuesday to honor a requisition from the governor of Massachusetts, asking the extradition of Dr. Eugene Schreiber, of Macon, for the alleged desertion of his wife and two small children in Boston in 1920.

The hearing was held in the governor's office. Attorneys John R.
Cooper and W. C. Cooper, of Macon, represented the defendant, while Stephen F. Flaherty, inspector of the Boston police department, represented the state of Massachusetts.

The governor refused the extradition on the grounds that Schreiber is not a fugitive from justice. His attorneys presented testimony to show that Schreiber had left Boston in 1920 with his wife and children for Florida, where he lived with them for more than a year. He had not returned to Massachusetts since that time, Mr. Cooper said.

not he would ask the legislature to make the wearing of masks criminal.
Dr. Ridley will leave Atlanta next Monday for a two-month tour of California and Oregon in the interest of the Klan.

Hemmer-Hardwick Marriage Takes Place on Saturday

Coffee Picking

This picture gives a good idea of the coffee tree when pruned down to a minimum height, as it is in the coffee plantations. The leaves of the bush have a smooth, glossy surface and somewhat resemble those of the mountain laurel.

The berries, which when ripe resemble cherries and are about the same size, have to be picked by hand.

The girl in this picture is evidently a belle in her class, and though barefooted is not unattractive.

In the coffee plantations of South America practically the entire population, old and young, engages in the picking of the crop, very much as the country people do at cotton picking time on a Southern plantation.

As the seed of the coffee berries is covered by a soft pulp, it is necessary to remove that before the seed or bean can be prepared for the market. The pulp is removed by crushing and washing, and is afterward dried, carefully sorted and packed in bags. These bags are shipped to the most convenient port, where they are loaded by the thousand on great ocean steamships and shipped to all parts of the world.

It is only by a thorough knowledge of the coffee industry and the different grades produced by different varieties and different methods of culture and harvesting that a good article is assured.

With many years' experience in handling coffee and ample equipment for roasting and blending, the McCord-Stewart Company has put on the market an article of lasting excellence, known to the trade as

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

DON'T DO IT

How we do hate to have things taken for granted!

Kindnesses and favors and all sorts of efforts to please, I mean.

I know a woman who is generous to a fault. She will spend herself extravagantly to do things for people whom she likes. But once she finds that what she does is being accepted as a matter of course, she stops short. That's the end.

She was boarding once in the home of friends when the maid left. She was paying adequate board and was not called upon to do anything, except for friendship. But being warm-hearted and a competent housekeeper, she did all she could to help, took care of her room, helped with the dishes and got some of the meals.

They Killed Their Gift.

At first they protested that she must do so much and were copious in their gratitude. Presently their protestations grew fainter and their gratitude less copious. Several times they asked her to do little extra things and soon she found that they had ceased their efforts to get another maid.

And that was that! The next day she came down to breakfast and seated herself at the table waiting to be served as she had in the old days. After breakfast she strolled out on the porch without even removing her dishes from the table.

"When people take things for granted it's time to stop," she said to me afterwards. "I would gladly have gone on helping until they got a maid if they had been decent about it."

Careless and Greedy.

And I know she would have, for she is that sort. But she has enough spirit not to be willing to have her kindness taken for granted in that careless and greedy manner.

There is altogether too much taken for granted in families.

The calm way in which the average child takes for granted all that its father and mother do for it is one of the minor tragedies of existence. I think parents would do their children a kindness if they would try to shake them out of this state of mind. The habit of being grateful instead of taking things for granted would stand them in good stead the rest of their life.

NOT NEARLY AS HORRID AS THE NAME IMPLIES. You might expect something very startling of the new autumn shade called Apache, but it's really just a golden brown—very good looking, though.

And as for husbands and wives, nothing is more dispiriting in matrimony than the take-it-for-granted habit.

Wives and Husbands.

The wife who takes for granted her husband's hard work and self-sacrifice for her and the children, the fact that he has put aside the cigars he used to love and now smokes a pipe, that he takes his luncheon at a cheaper place, and has given up that dear old dream of becoming a thirty-third degree man, puts a premium on regret and resentment.

The husband who takes for granted all his wife's efforts to have everything about the home as he likes it, to keep herself dainty and attractive, to cook his favorite dishes, discourages effort and breeds sadness and discontent.

And it is a fact that no one who is married can afford to ignore—that cannot make the other party unhappy without marring one's own happiness and peace of mind.

Tomorrow—Duties and Virtues.

Camping Party at Tallulah Falls.

A congenial party of young people who have been camping for ten days at Tallulah Falls, and will return home today include Misses Nell Hartley, Margaret Minahan, Josephine and Dorothy Davis, and Dorothy Coffin.

Victor Anderson, V. G. Clev, James Barker, Joseph Corrigan and P. A. Kannappell.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. E. B. Davis.

Mrs. Hargrove to Compliment Visitors.

Mrs. J. L. Hargrove will entertain Friday afternoon at the East Lake Country club, in compliment to Miss Gladys Crawford, of Tallahassee, Fla., the guest of Mrs. Walter E. Cason, and Miss Dorothy Pittman, of Jacksonville, Fla.

President's Address Opens Business Women's Meeting

Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest, of New York, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 11.—The address of Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest, of Detroit, president, featured the opening meeting of the fourth annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs here this morning.

The delegates were welcomed to the city by Mayor A. W. Chambliss, and the response was made by Miss Forba McDaniels, president of the Indiana state federation.

The report of Miss Lean Madeline Phillips, of New York, national executive secretary, reviewed the growth of the organization, showing that the membership includes 368 federated clubs composed of 29,893 individuals.

Miss Phillips submitted the following recommendations:

That an intensive campaign for new clubs be made, by urging each federated club to assume the responsibility of organizing and federating one new club by March 1, 1923.

That in states needing financial aid in promoting this campaign for new clubs the national meet a certain percentage of a fixed budget, the state to furnish the remainder and to be responsible for the actual work of organization.

That certain undeveloped states be selected by the national for special organization for these, and into these only, a national field secretary be sent. That a definite goal of 500 or 600 clubs, at the discretion of this convention be set for the fiscal year 1922-23.

That we plan well organized speakers' bureaus to be established at national headquarters, and by each state federation, to secure and route national and state speakers, and to provide especially for the routing, adequately and economically, national speakers for state meetings. That we not only plan this work but that afterwards we consistently work the plan.

That somehow we make our "independent woman" sufficiently independent to attain the strength and stature which are her natural right and which are her natural right and which are her natural right.

Miss Paula Laddie, national treasurer, reported that there is now $15,000 in the treasury, besides the additional asset of $20,000, which is the appraisal of The Independent Women, the national organ.

Tonight's program included addresses by Mrs. Florence Spencer Dury, New York, on "Business Women of the Near East," and "The Outlawry of War," by Raymond Robbins, former Red Cross commissioner in Russia.

The afternoon was devoted to social functions in honor of the delegates.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Many Mothers Left in Weakened Condition

Many, many letters similar to the following recommend the Vegetable Compound as a wonderful medicine for bringing the body back to normal health and strength.

It is an excellent restorative, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken in safety by a nursing mother.

Thousands of mothers who have regained their strength by taking it are its best recommendation. Very likely you know some. Why not take it yourself?

(Some might think this impossible, but it is true.) I took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and felt so fine that I neglected to take any more for about a year. This last winter I had pains again so I have been taking it to relieve them. I tell everyone I hear complaining of female troubles that it is grand. If any woman asks me

Allentown, Pa.—"After my last baby was born I lost weight and was in a very run-down condition. After taking the second bottle of Lydia E. AT WOMAN'S WINDOW

BY W. L. GEORGE

BY W. L. GEORGE.

A subject which is always popular for discussion in the press is: "Should Married Couples Take Their Vacations Apart?" It is a fascinating subject to the public because there are an enormous number of people who are thoroughly tired of each other, who long to spend, not only their vacations, but their whole lives apart, and who therefore extract from the debate a beautiful dream. Personally I believe that there is much to be said on both sides in a discussion such as this. The old conventional idea is that husbands and wives should never be apart, that they ought to take pleasure in each other's society and in that of their children. Many do but some don't, and what is more important, many would get on much better if they were not so resolutely maintained in contact by the conventions and the law.

One point, for separate vacations is that often a family vacation gives the wife no rest at all. She goes from her own house into another rented for some weeks. New tradesmen, now help, all this increases the difficulties of housekeeping, and at best she keeps house by the sea as she did at home. But since most people go to hotels this does not generally apply, and the question arises whether husband and wife had better go to different places. It depends upon circumstances. If the husband and wife have a great deal in common, such as a game, they will enjoy a joint holiday. If, on the other hand, their alliance, affectionate as it may be, resolves itself in a man who works abroad and a woman who works at home, it may be that each had better follow his or her interest. In such a case let the man have a few weeks camping, fishing, shooting, while his wife, in some hotel, finds new associates and indulges in quieter pleasures. A question such as this touches the fundamentals of marriage: to do what one chooses. Therefore, it is a question that every couple must decide for itself.

"The NuGrape Smile"

THIS is the broadest smile ever known. It made its appearance about a year ago and at first was a bit difficult to capture and classify. Then the professor discovered that this new smile was the unmistakable symptom of a deep inside joy following a drink of NuGrape.

The NuGrape smile is incurable. In fact it is growing broader and spreading all over the South. Expose yourself to NuGrape to-day and get the NuGrape smile.

Genuine bottled NuGrape always has three rings in the bottle's neck. Look for these rings.

THE OLD RELIABLE

—next after religion and the public school

James J. Hill, builder of the Great Northern Railroad, in the following terse language expressed the importance of American Railroads: "While the railways of the United States may have mistakes to answer for, they have created the most effective, useful, and by far the cheapest system of land transportation in the world. This has been accomplished with very little legislative aid and against an immense volume of opposition and interference growing out of ignorance and mis-understanding. It is not an exaggeration to say that in the past history of this country the railway, next after the Christian religion and the public school, has been the largest single contributing factor to the welfare and happiness of the people."

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad

operating in thirteen states and immediately serving the entire South, East and Central West, including the richest agricultural section of the Nation, has done its part with religion and the public school.

The agricultural and industrial development of L. & N.-served territory, concurrent with the development of the railroad itself, furnishes an object lesson aptly substantiating the text of this advertisement.

THE OLD RELIABLE

The Involuntary Vamp

by Mildred Barbour

Who's Who in the Story.

Diana Langley, who possesses a superlative degree of quality of "ing" wanted for her at birth by her youthful aunt, Marjorie Langley, herself a noted beauty, has been devoted for years, impetuously declaring her love for Diana and on being told that he can never marry because of a trace of insanity in his family, to devote her pride, clothes with and marries Alex Leigh, a young navy officer, at the same time that Ted Sommers, a huge, less suited for Diana's hand, marries Sylvia Bennett, a friend of Diana's, in a "cat-in-the-hat" ceremony. On her way to California with her new husband, Diana meets Lynn Johnston, an old acquaintance, and is incidentally left behind with him at a small New Mexican town when the train pulls out. They are picked up by a man named Dominguez, who makes Johnston, introduced by Diana as her fiancé for propriety sake, a prisoner and then marries Diana. She runs away only to meet with a worse adventurer and in her second escape, sustains a bad injury, but is rescued by Dr. Maxwell Borden, a former noted New York physician who, with his sister, Cynthia Borden, are people with a mysterious past in which Diana and his late uncle are somehow involved. Borden falls in love with Diana and, becoming alarmed at Dominguez's actions, decides to take her to San Francisco, but not before Diana has already discovered her, unknown to the doctor.

INSTALLMENT NO. 63.

A Few Revelations.

At Diana's cry of dismay, curious heads all along the lobby, were turned in her direction.

"Shh," warned Marjorie, "We're being frightfully conspicuous. Come up to my sitting room for a minute. I have an engagement but—"

She consulted the tiny jeweled watch on her arm and caught one deftly roughed underlip between her white teeth while she thought hurriedly.

"I can get the admiral at the club and tell him not to come for half an hour," she said half under her breath.

"Alex's uncle?" asked Diana quickly. "Goodness, is he out here, too?"

"Everybody's out here, you wicked child! You are probably beginning to see now what your thoughtless escapade has cost us all."

"And Alex—?" said Diana hesitantly.

But Marjorie was already leading the way to the elevators.

She maintained a majestic silence while the car shot upward. Like an empress she swept through the velvet-carpeted corridor, the pointed train of her gown, heavy with gold brocade, sweeping after her like a glittering snake.

"My word, Marjorie's sure of herself," was Diana's mental comment.

Her thoughts sped to the gray-haired, gray-clad Cynthia Borden who waited patiently for her in the suite upstairs. She too had once borne herself regally. She too had carried a beautiful head arrogantly high. And Marjorie had only recently referred to her as a "clodhopper."

A door opened swiftly in response to Marjorie's light tap, and her maid stood aside for her to enter.

"You may go, Theresa," commanded Marjorie, motioning her niece to a chaise lounge under a great rose-shaded lamp. "Subside there for a moment, Di, until I get the club."

She picked up the telephone from the desk with fingers gleaming with precious stones. There was a slender bracelet of diamonds on one arm.

Diana looked at the hands critically.

The Emerald Again.

She had not been wrong when she told Cynthia Borden that Marjorie's beauty did not extend to her hands. The famous emerald had not been in its loveliest setting when it had adorned Marjorie Langley's finger.

Diana spoke idly.

"I say, Marjorie! What ever became of that square emerald you used to wear? Lovely thing!"

"I merely asked if you didn't wear an emerald at one time?"

Marjorie stared at her.

"Of all the idiotic things! Here you are, home after weeks when we've been wild with fear and, instead of telling all about everything, you make some absurd remark about my rings?"

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

The more I travel the more I think that the American girl has the most beautiful ankles in the world. She usually possesses slim feet which taper delicately to a slender but sturdy ankle. With the short skirts we have been wearing lately there is a glimpse also of an attractive curve towards the calf of the leg. Late, of course, there has been more than a glimpse, but that is a temporary vagary of fashion!

One reason why the American girl has nice feet and ankles is that she usually takes such good care of them. She buys good shoes and she is able to get an excellent quality of shoe for a comparatively small sum. Even with soaring prices since the war we still make the best quality ready-made shoes for the smallest amount of money.

A foot that is well shod will keep its attractive shape. I know that I could a great deal about fancy shoes which throw the foot out of proportion by their high heels, and crowd the toes with their pointed length. These shoes, of course, are very bad for the foot and eventually they spoil its beauty, but not every girl spends her shoe allowance foolishly, and even so the silly shoes we make are infinitely better than the same type of shoe made abroad.

If the shoes do not fit the heel snugly the heel in time will grow thick and coarse. The aristocratic foot must possess a slender heel.

If the shoes do not fit the arch of the foot firmly this middle part of the foot will spread and become ugly and a fallen arch will not only make the foot unattractive but will make it weak.

A Male:—The advice about wearing the same color as the eyes, only a darker shade, is given to people who have eyes that are not rich in color. If your eyes are deep blue you will have no need to improve their shade and will find that every shade of blue or violet will make becoming ties for you. As your hair is brown with a reddish tint, you will find all shades of brown including henna becoming. In suits, navy blue, black or the warm shades of tan and brown should be your choice.

How to Save When Shopping

BY RUTH LEIGH

Author of "The Human Side of Retail Selling," "The A B C of Retailing," Etc.

In buying tools for your kitchen, do not think that "anything will do."

This is not true—for an efficient kitchen, for instance, you should be aware of buying so-called "cheap" or "second"-grade tools. A frying pan, as an example, may be exceedingly cheap, but you may not notice that the bottom does not set squarely, or that there is a raised surface in the center so that grease sinks to the edges and makes unsatisfactory frying. A so-called cheap agateware pot may have a portion of the under metal exposed. This may not seem important to you, but it will shorten the life of the pan.

In buying equipment for your kitchen you will find it much more economical to buy the best grade of the standard tool be device you need rather than a novelty of some kind which is claimed to perform various wonderful feats in one operation.

Your kitchen equipment, to be efficient, must be good, and anything bought just because the price is cheap, without regard to its permanent wearing qualities, will be found far more expensive in the long run.

With children around, broken window panes are not infrequent these days. Some suggestions tomorrow about ordering glass for windows. (Copyright 1922 for The Constitution.)

Women and Rugs and Mystery

When you know everything about a woman your interest in her wanes, doesn't it? The wise woman knows that a few secrets, a few reservations make for fascination and charm.

Likewise, much of the charm of Oriental rugs lies in their mystery. Their designs are odd and strange and full of hidden meanings. Handed down, from father to son, through many generations, there is the appeal of age and tradition. The secrets, too, of many of the dyes are carefully guarded.

The very word, Oriental, is a synonym for beauty and magic and mystery.

You will realize this when you see the rugs we are now displaying, particularly the Chinese rugs. These rugs are as indicative of the soul of China as are the paintings of Alexander Iacovlev.

The ground colors are blue, gold, tan, taupe, copper and maroon. The borders and spot patterns show flowers and vines, temples and lanterns, dragons and butterflies, and many other objects of significant beauty. Each woven picture is a delight to the eye and a caress to the tread.

There is glamour in the room that possesses a Chinese rug.

INTER-CLUB MATCH PLAY

Atlanta's season of inter-club golf has arrived and from this time on until Jack Frost keeps local golfers nearer the radiator than the links, members of the Druid Hills, Brookhaven and East Lake clubs will stage hectic combat.

Officials in charge of the league announced yesterday that each club will play the other organizations three matches, the first of the battles being slated for this afternoon over the Druid Hills course, when this club plays Brookhaven. Play starts promptly at 1 o'clock.

The second match between Brookhaven and Druid Hills will be played at Brookhaven, while the third struggle will be held at East Lake. This procedure will be followed in all the matches, one at the home course, another at the rival's place of business and the third on neutral territory.

Teams to represent the Brookhaven and East Lake clubs have not been announced, but the Druid Hills crowd looks to be strong. One team is composed of Vezey Rainwater, Charlie Black, Jr., Lowry Arnold and Dana Belser. Another will find Henry Todd, Carey Baker, Al Thorwell and Billy Jones battling for Druid Hills, while still another outfit includes such valiant battlers as Loyd Parks, Jesse Brainer, Phil L'Engle and Dr. C. F. Hughes.

DEMPSEY-WILLS SIGN FOR BOUT

New York, July 11.—Champion Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, through their managers, today signed a contract to box for the world's heavyweight championship and a time and place to be named later.

ALBANY LICKS QUITMAN NINE

Albany, Ga., July 11.—(Special.) Albany made it two straight from Quitman here this afternoon, taking the contest in rather easy style, 7 to 4.

Dekle, who was sick when he entered the box, weakened in the fifth inning and allowed Quitman five of the six hits that gave him in the entire game, resulting in four scores.

Dekle got by the seventh all right, and then retired in favor of "Brown Mule" Smith, who whiffed six Quitman batters in two innings, but one of them reached first on a missed third strike. Quitman threatened in the first inning, but flashy work by the Albany team checked a rally and broke the visitors' spirits. Mannion hit the first pitched ball for a double.

W. Wilkes dropped a sacrifice in front of the plate, sending Mannion to third and reaching first himself when Poney failed to tag the sack.

Barrett hit to second base and Mannion was chased down between third and home. W. Wilkes reaching third and Barrett second. Kimbrell caught W. Wilkes off third by a quick throw to Hutcheson. McConnell then hit a line drive over second, which Cameron leaped high in the air, fagged slightly and finally caught before it reached the ground. After this Dekle retired the side in order, save his one hit.

Alford was very wild for Quitman in the early stages, forcing in two men in the second inning, when he walked four and fumbled a sacrifice, giving Albany 2 scores without a hit. He was hit hard in the fourth and fifth innings and finally retired in favor of W. Wilkes, who was also wild. The only hit the relief hurler gave up was a two-bagger by Satterfield, hitting for Dekle. The teams play here again tomorrow, on Thursday Albany goes to Dawson to meet the greatly strengthened Dawson team.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Quitman . . . 000 004 000—4 0 2 Albany . . . 020 130 105—7 10 3 Batteries—Alford, W. Wilkes and McConnell; Dekle, Smith and Kimbrell. Umpires: Pate and Baum.

THE SPORTSMAN

IN ALL THIS world upheaval the Greeks have not had time to follow the suggestion of Baron Deburon, made at the end of the war, namely, to erect a marble monument for the establishment of the Olympic games. The Greeks have more pressing problems than erecting monuments to sport.

SO HAVE THE French, who, however, are beginning to awaken to the fact that it would be unwise to let some country take the next Olympic games away. The government is interested and preparing to make some financial provision. We of this country should appreciate that anything done in this respect is a sheer sacrifice, for Germany's payments to France do not begin to equal the money France is paying out in repairing war devastation.

AMERICANS THUS should realize that there is no lack of sportsmanship the Frenchmen give, but the terrible financial situation, that has made them dilatory in moving to finance the great international athletic meet. Copyright 1922. For The Constitution.

CADDY MEET WON BY 'IKE'

BY MIKE THOMAS.

The Ansley Golf Club was the scene of one of the hardest fought matches that was ever seen on any golf course yesterday afternoon, when eight of the famous Ansley Park caddies went forth to battle with drive, niblick and putter over this fine little course. As is the usual luck of the golf writer most of these missed this treat but the result of these two foursomes in their combat on the greens, through the fairways and in and out of the rough is hereby set down for the benefit of the readers of this Standard Southern Newspaper.

A caddy when on the course loses his identity and becomes something either more or less than human. He may be a valued advisor or he may be a demon incarnate, talking when he should keep still, moving when he should be immobile, grinning after a particularly atrocious shot or laughing in a loud and raucous tone after a ball has been lost. So it is fitting that these caddies should be known after the style and names that they are called on the course.

In the first foursome "Overton" playing with "Ike" defeated Charley Price and "Benny" after a grueling battle. "Ike" was low for the foursome, shooting an 84; Overton was next with an 80; Price was third with 91 and Benny shot an even 100. The prize won in this event was a large watermelon. And the defeated half of this group of players went through the sensation of having their faces washed with the rinds of the melon after the winners had taken unto themselves the edible portion.

The smaller caddies also played in a foursome. "Mark" shot 102, "Howard" 96; "Black Johnny" 98, and "Gray" an even 100. This event was the forerunner of a caddy tournament that will be held at a later date, and in this tournament the winning four from among the caddies will challenge any four caddies from any of the other local courses for a match to be played at Ansley park on some convenient date.

The riders sit beside one another and each has a pair of handle bars to guide a two-seated, foot-propelled bicycle of German invention.

O'Dowd-Wilson Match May Be Logical Go; Yanks Defeat Real Clubs--Lose to Easy

Tommy Tompkins, match-maker of the Birmingham Athletic club and one of the foxiest of Dixie's pugilistic magnates, is disregarding some of the first traditions of the game in bringing about a match between Claude Wilson and the Yanks, both admittedly weaker than the usual crack.

The usual procedure, once a manager has laid his hands on a batter with some signs of development, is to start the kid against a flock of set-ups that any self-respecting 10-year-old could safely dispose of in 10 minutes' action.

When Tommy announced that he had found a promising youngster hanging around Birmingham, it was taken for granted by the ring-wise that Claude would be trotted on easy meat. It was a mighty big surprise, too, when shortly after Claude had been taught how to hold up his hands, he was sent in against a tough nut and they've been getting tougher all along.

Mike Thomas, who presides over the assistant's desk in this department, violently objected to Claude Wilson and every time it is mentioned that Wilson will soon fight Tom O'Dowd, he returns to the subject with a return to go, sending locally, Mike's feathers become ruffled. He can't understand why Tompkins wants such a promising battlemaster as Claude is unquestionably, spoiled by a barrage Tommy might send over.

At first blush it doesn't appear to be a wise move, Tommy sending in a fighter only a few months removed from the amateur, to take on a veteran bantam who interested Pat Moore sufficiently to make a good portion of the patronage believe that Moore had actually taken a beating.

But on second thought we realize that Claude has solved every problem given him for consideration, that aside from Moore and O'Dowd there is not any Dixie bantamweights worthy of swapping slaps with the Slagtown slugger.

Wilson, has developed rapidly, but there was always the sneaking suspicion in the south that Claude was a diamond in the rough, with just a bit of polish necessary to make him sparkle above the rest of the flock. Tompkins evidently believes his little lad has arrived. We're anxious to see if Claude's showing justifies Tommy's opinion.

YANKS INHERIT GIANT'S BAD HABIT.

The New York Yankies yesterday defeated the St. Louis Browns in the first game of the first real "crucial" series, customers in the American league have been offered this season. In turning the trick, the Yanks defeated Urban Shocker, who once could lick his old teammates by tossing his glove onto the diamond.

There is every reason to believe, incidentally, that the Yankies will emerge from the series with colors flying. The Huguenot, have shown a tendency throughout the campaign to win against the strong opposition and bow before the weaker sisters. It is the same disease which nearly cost the Giant their chance to grab off the world's baseball title last season and one likely to prove fatal in nine cases out of ten.

Somehow, ball players fail to realize that a victory over a weak team occupies just as big a place in the percentage column as a triumph achieved over a powerful outfit. The idea is to play their hardest when they feel the other team is capable of taking advantage of the least imaginable opening and to loaf until it's too late against teams they figure too weak to strike back.

The Slicker won Cleveland a pennant and a world's championship because he realized that beating Philadelphia, Chicago and Boston was much easier than running New York, St. Louis and others. The big majority of his victories were scored against the weak clubs and he was intensely pleased when his team scored as good as an even break with the stronger nines.

We can bring the point home by carefully studying the season's cam-

CHURCHMEN FIGHT BOUT

New York, July 11.—Benny Leonard is a faker, Lew Tendler is a foul fighter, and their lightweight championship match of July 27 certainly would be a prize-fight and not a boxing contest, according to a committee of five preachers and a lawyer which called on Governor Edwards of New Jersey Tuesday to protest against the proposal to hold the lightweight title contest in New Jersey.

Representing the New Jersey state anti-prize fight committee of the New Jersey council of churches, the delegation assumed that the governor, that Leonard has faked some of his fights. He was also informed that Tendler has a habit of striking opponents when and where the boxing rules forbid.

The governor asked them to prove that the proposed match would be a prize fight, saying that if they should prove it, he would prevent the bout.

TITLE COSTS JOIE 10,000 WHOLE DOLLARS

New York, July 11.—Joe Lynch has to pay nearly $10,000 out of his own pocket for the privilege of wearing the bantamweight championship crown again.

When the receipts and expenses of last night's fight in which Johnny Buff was dethroned were checked up today it was found that the "gate" was $8,150.35 short of the guaranteed $20,000. Under the terms of agreement Buff was to receive this sum if he lost his title.

There were 14,203 paid admissions, but by the time the expenses, government and state taxes were paid there was not enough left to make up the guarantee to Buff.

Boxing authorities said it was the first time in ring history in America that a fighter won a title without receiving a cent, to say nothing of paying a big sum to the defeated man.

The rampaging Chickasaws, of Memphis, topping the Southern league by a considerable margin and apparently bent on annexing another pennant for Spencer Abbott, who is in his second campaign in the Dixie major, are guests of the Atlanta club for a four-game series, the first of which will be staged this afternoon within Poney's fences.

The Chickies' rise has been the real feature of the long grind. The club was slow to get started, but once under way there was no stopping the Tribesmen. Ponce de Leon, however, has always proved a treacherous spot for the Chickies.

Last season, you will recall, Memphis had not lost a series until Atlanta was reached. John Sugars at that time dumped off his famous no-hit performance and the Chickies were licked in three starts, out of four.

The Cracker's still have a chance for a respectable standing and as the club seems to fight much harder against the strong teams of the circuit than against the weaker outfits, there is a possibility that the Chickies will drop their first series in weeks of battling. The games will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

Games Are Wanted.

Carnesville, Ga., July 11.—(Special.)—Carnesville won four straight games in the past week, taking one from Commerce, by the score of 19 to 5, a double-header from New Holland, 6 to 3 and 6 to 5, also one from Gainesville by the score of 6 to 1. Carnesville would like to arrange games with any of the strongest amateur teams in the state. For dates and other information, write Manager Mack Canon, Carnesville, Ga.

Dunn on Job.

Springfield, Ohio, July 11.—Joe Dunn, local baseball manager, who started the season as manager of the Denver team of the Western league, and who has lately been scouting for the Detroit Tigers, has signed to manage the Birmingham club of the Southern association. He will take charge Sunday.

Races Called Off.

Toledo, Ohio, July 11.—Today's Grand Circuit races were called off at noon, the Fort Miami track being ankle deep in mud in places. The card scheduled for today, including the finished 2:18 trot and 2:30 pace of yesterday's card, will be raced tomorrow, it was announced.

The postponement setting each day's program one day back will necessitate racing Saturday.

RAWSON GOES WITH DAWSON

Dawson, Ga., July 11.—(Special.) Continuing to strengthen the local team, the management of the Dawson club has signed two new players, Eddie Rawson, former University of Georgia catcher, and "Lefty" Rainey, the former to report today and the hurler being scheduled to come in early this week. Rawson has been catching for the Orangeburg, S. C. team this summer.

The disbanding of the Tifton team, which was scheduled to play Dawson three games this week, has necessitated a substitution in the schedule. Thursday, Albany visits Dawson, for the first game of a series, the second game of which will be played in Albany Friday. If a third game is played, it probably will be held in Dawson, this not having been agreed upon.

Since the opening of the season, Dawson has played nineteen games, twelve resulting in victories, one a tie and six having been lost. It is believed that with the several additions which have been made within the past few weeks, the club will stack up favorably with the best in this vicinity.

DOUGLAS NOT TO RUN FOR STATE ASSEMBLY

Hamilton Douglas, Jr., prominent Atlanta lawyer, will not enter the race for representative in the legislature from Fulton county, he announced Tuesday. It was reported last week that Mr. Douglas was preparing to run for one of the three places to be filled, and he declared Tuesday he had given the matter serious consideration but had decided not to enter the fight at this time.

Mr. Douglas made his announcement in a letter to The Constitution. He expressed confidence that he would have received strong support had he entered the race but had reached the decision that he would not this year.

Following is his letter:

Editor Constitution:

About a week ago several of my friends suggested to me that I make the race for the legislature. You were good enough to publish a little notice of this fact in your paper.

Like most lawyers I have an ambition to get into politics, eventually. From the expressions that have come to me I believe I could be elected if I would run at this time. But on ac-

Women Who Tried To Commit Suicide Will Both Recover

Mrs. M. L. Benn, of 112 Simpson street, who was taken to Grady hospital Tuesday after taking a dose of lyso, was reported to be recovering Tuesday night. She is said to have tried to take her life after brooding over domestic affairs.

Mrs. Minnie Norman, of 459 Ponce de Leon avenue, who was taken to Grady hospital Monday night suffering from a dose of bichloride of mercury, was also in an improved condition Tuesday. Both women will recover, physicians stated.

Count of the demands incident to my practice, I feel that I cannot devote that time to make this race, which would be necessary to make it successful.

Having reached this conclusion I write, in the first place, to thank you for your interest in publishing my previous notice about me; and in the second place to ask if you would notify the public through your columns that I will not at this time be a candidate for this office.

Sincerely your friend,
HAMILTON DOUGLAS, JR.

HARDWICK APPROVES EQUAL RIGHTS BILL

Governor Hardwick voiced his approval of a delegation of women Tuesday of practically all the provisions in the equal rights bill, soon to be introduced in the legislature by Senator Frank Manson, of Washington, D. C., nationally prominent member of the organization.

The governor told the women he did not think they were ready for jury service, that their arduous home duties would interfere. Miss Egan contended that women are needed on the juries.

Forsyth Theatre—All week, Forsyth Players in "Scandal."

Howard Theatre—All week, Betty Compson in "Over the Border," and other screen features.

"Scandal" (At the Forsyth) "Scandal" the attraction at the Forsyth this week is just a little different from anything that the Forsyth Players have attempted previously, but it is undoubtedly one of the best things that they have ever offered. "Scandal" contains comedy, pathos, laughs, tears, in fact, it contains everything that one should expect to find in a play of this kind. It is a play that makes a show of itself.

The entire company is up to the usual high standard, but charming for his role is the young man, Miss Tarry, who has not reached the average of twenty, she is a real woman of about forty, and not only plays it, but also made up to look the part.

Loew Vaudeville. (At the Grand) That the present show at Loew's Grand theatre is meeting the approval of Atlanta theatergoers is evidenced by the generous applause accorded every act on the bill. All five vaudeville acts are far above the average, offering a variety of entertainment suiting all manner of tastes.

Johnny Eckert and Steve McDonald have an amusing turn called "Another Messing." They are excellent comedians and keep their audience in laughter during the entire time of their act.

Other acts are the Yoko Jans, oriental entertainers, Harry Antin, The Old Folio, Milton and Milton, "Moonlight Melodies," and Edwards and Edwards, expert riffs.

The feature of the screen bill is "Over the Border," a Paramount picture of thrills and beauty.

"Sonny" (At the Metropolitan) "Sonny," with Richard Barthelmess in the title role, is in the midst of a run at the Metropolitan theatre which is the success of "Tollable David," that outstanding feature which won for young Barthelmess the unequalled praise of the Better Films Committee of Atlanta and secured for his picture the unanimous endorsement of the reviewing body.

In "Sonny" Richard Barthelmess plays his first dual role, his dual characterizations are so convincing and so convincing that they are almost indistinguishable.

"One Clear Call" (Next Week at Metropolitan) John M. Stahl has woven many dramatic elements with mastery skill in the production of his latest First National attraction, "One Clear Call," which will be the feature of the Metropolitan theatre next week. Behind the spectacular incidents is a story of gripping human interest with a pathetic heart appeal that has been equalled only by the traditional stage classics.

If there is any one thing that has distinguished the work of this producer in the past it has been the simple, effective way in which he has handled tense climaxes without either overdoing the sentiment or allowing the actors to overplay their roles.

Mrs. Ryan was charged with the fatal shooting of her husband, Dan Ryan, wealthy boat owner and shell dealer, on Wednesday night of last week.

A large crowd gathered at the courthouse for the hearing but it was without thrills. The two men who were with Mrs. Ryan the night of the fatal shooting, a private detective and a chauffeur, gave their version of the killing, both substantially the same. They said they approached a car, Mrs. Ryan got out, flashed a light on Ryan and another woman. Words followed, he started after her, grabbed her, and she shot, they said.

MID-WEST STRUCK BY SEVERE STORM

Chicago, July 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Middle-western states were recovering today from the effects of the rain and wind storm, which swept over Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas yesterday, causing extensive property damage and a small loss of lives. In sections of these states where the precipitation was not excessive reports said crops were benefited in some places the rain breaking excessive droughts.

Heaviest damage, according to reports, occurred in South Dakota, and Missouri. A tornado at St. Charles, S. D., in the vicinity of Lake Andes, farm buildings were destroyed and summer cottages blown down, bringing the property loss to $800,000.

A cloudburst at Kansas City late last night flooded the streets, washed automobiles away from the curbing and overburdened storm sewers. Lightening systems in Kansas City and vicinity were severely hampered. Official records placed the precipitation at two inches in ten minutes.

Two persons were killed near Sanger, N. D., as a result of a heavy wind, rain and hail storm last night. A 12-year-old boy was pinned under a wagon and drowned in a water-filled ditch when the team he was driving became frightened during the hail storm and ran away. Rivers throughout Missouri and Nebraska are reported to be out of their banks with farm lands under water. Flood warnings have been issued. The rainfall was general over Nebraska.

The storm ended a 43-day drought in that vicinity, but only slight damage resulted from the high wind which accompanied the down-pour.

General rainfall was reported over Wisconsin and central Iowa were lost as a result of electrical storms. Crops generally were benefited by the rain. Kansas and Iowa both reported heavy rain and in the latter state property damage was reported with a small loss of life due to falling buildings and electrical disturbances. Relief from the heat wave, which has been a long time in coming, and local showers are predicted for this district today.

HUSBAND-SLAYER FREED ON BOND Houston, Texas, July 11.—Mrs. Martha Hazel Ryan, 25, was at liberty today on $2,500 bond, agreed to yesterday afternoon when she was taken to the grand jury following a brief preliminary hearing on a charge of murder. Mrs. Ryan was charged with the fatal shooting of her husband, Dan Ryan, wealthy boat owner and shell dealer, on Wednesday night of last week.

A large crowd gathered at the courthouse for the hearing but it was without thrills. The two men who were with Mrs. Ryan the night of the fatal shooting, a private detective and a chauffeur, gave their version of the killing, both substantially the same. They said they approached a car, Mrs. Ryan got out, flashed a light on Ryan and another woman. Words followed, he started after her, grabbed her, and she shot, they said.

Emory's Hospital Unit Plan Classy Reunion Saturday

Plans for the fourth annual reunion of the Emory hospital unit, Saturday at the farm of Dr. E. L. Davis, former commander, on the Jett road, near Buckhead, indicate that this year's session will be the largest and most successful in the history of the organization.

It is expected that more than 300 officers, nurses and enlisted personnel of the unit which constitutes almost the total number comprising the unit, will be in attendance. The session will begin promptly at noon with a roll call by First Sergeant William L. Davis. A barbecue will be served. All related members arriving after the roll call will be disciplined by being assigned to kitchen police.

The program is one of the best ever arranged by the committee. It consists of a one-act playlet under the direction of Dr. Jake Sauls, former company commander. This will be followed by a talk by Sinclair James, former sergeant who recently returned from a visit to the battlefields of France and the former headquarters of the unit at Blois. Other prominent members whose names appear on the program, include Drs. Frank K. Boland, Cyrus Strickler, W. E. Person and John W. Davis.

The Emory unit was organized in 1917 and was one of the first hospital organizations to be assigned to overseas duty. It is made up of the majority of Georgians, the majority of whom are Atlantans. Reunions have been held every year since the war on Dr. Davis' farm.

Augusta, Ga., July 11.—(Special.)—Officers are seeking to run down the separate charges of William K. Garrison, Augusta, and D. E. Weisinger, Ellenton, S. C., who claim they were forced into military service by a mob, mistreated and warned never to accept work in non-union shops.

M. Atkins, brother of G. W. Atkins, president of the Augusta federation of trades, was arrested early Tuesday and charged with kidnapping on complaint of Weisinger, who pointed Atkins out to Sergeant J. Ray. Atkins, one of the men who had spirited him out of the city, Atkins, who has been released under bonds totaling $500, denies any knowledge of the affair, it is understood.

No arrests have yet been made in connection with the affair in which Garrison figured. Garrison told the police the men were unknown to him, and that he could not definitely say whether they were railroad strikers.

Weisinger's story to the police was to the effect that he was put into an automobile and carried out of Augusta against his wishes, and dumped in the mud at a point in South Carolina, near Clearwater, and told not to return. He said he came to Augusta from Ellenton, a short time ago in search of work, but had not been working at any of the railroad shops affected by the strike. Weisinger stated that he made his way back to Augusta after being dumped in the road, and later recognized Atkins as one of the men who spirited him out of the city.

Weisinger was tried in police court Monday morning for plain drunk, and drew a suspended fine. He told the jury that he was a non-union worker at a local lumber plant near Ellenton.

Garrison's story was to the effect that a band of men carried him to a lonely spot in Lower's lane, near the city, rolled him in the mud, beat him with a stick, and warned him to move on and never undertake to secure work at a non-union shop. Garrison stated he is employed at a local plumbing establishment.

R. B. Bond, wanted in Jacksonville on a charge of impersonating a United States marine officer, escaped from the custody of the government for the second time within a week by leaping from the window of a moving passenger train Saturday night.

Details of the escape were reported at the federal building here Tuesday by Deputy Marshal W. W. Knight, who was transporting the prisoner from Atlanta to the Florida city on a warrant of removal. The getaway was effected when the prisoner was permitted to go to a Pullman lavatory. He locked the door from the inside and smashed the window and let himself through.

The first escape occurred in Macon one week ago, when he escaped from the sheriff's office while awaiting trial. He came to Atlanta as once and was arrested here.

Justice Seeger, however, ordered Ward released in $50,000 bail, holding there were several circumstances in connection with the case which made it seem unfair that Ward be held in prison to await trial next October.
